

ERASMUS Plus
International credit mobility call 2018
(KA107 – Mobility to non-EU Partner Countries)
CALL FOR APPLICATION A. Y. 2019/20

Within the ERASMUS+ International Credit Mobility Programme, the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia offers its students the opportunity to spend a mobility period at one of the partner Universities participating in an ICM KA107 project.

Students enrolled in the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia and willing to spend a study period abroad during the a.y. 2019/2020 within the Erasmus Plus International Credit Mobility Programme are informed that they can now submit the application for a mobility allowance.

Requirements

The call for application is open to the students of the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia who are properly enrolled in degree programmes, Master's degree programmes, PhDs that are part of the specific project for each Partner Country as outlined in section COUNTRIES, PARTNER INSTITUTIONS AND TYPE OF MOBILITY of the Erasmus+ Programme guide and information for applicants.

NOTE: When leaving for the period abroad, students must be properly enrolled for the a.y. 2019/2020 in one of the study programmes included in the project. PhD students must be properly enrolled at the time of leaving.

Mobility students will not be entitled to obtain the final qualification study before the completion of the period of study abroad, and subject to the recognition of the activities carried out there.

NOTE: Students having citizenship in one of the Partner Countries are eligible for the mobility at universities of their home Country, but priority will not be given to them in the selection process. Before confirming the acceptance of the exchange location, they will also have to obtain the approval of the host university.
